ABSTRACT

Computer software for elementary and secondary school second language instruction produced by 55 companies is listed and briefly described. The information is organized by company. Each company listing includes the publisher's address and telephone number and citations for each relevant computer program. For each program, information on price, program capabilities, hardware requirements, and languages available is provided, when applicable. Additional sections contain lists of computer productivity materials, electronic gradebooks, accessories and related products, lists of peripherals, publications, and ancillary materials, a reprinted list of sources of language software, videodisc sources for foreign languages, and word processing programs for the Macintosh. Macintosh programs are multiplying exponentially as the computer becomes more popular in foreign language classrooms all across America. There is a wide diversity of programs including some that simply provide drill and practice and others that control CD-ROM disks and video disk players. One of the most exciting aspects of the Macintosh computer is fact that it can "speak a foreign language fluently." The digitized speech capabilities now permit students to hear and interact with actual sounds and in virtually any language. Below is a list of programs for the Macintosh family that can help the language learner to become more proficient.

Learn to Speak Series (Spanish and French) Others to follow This series for the Macintosh is a complete CD-ROM based software course which emphasizes speaking and listening comprehension skills. The HyperCard audio CD-ROM based course has 30-36 lessons depending on the language and is available in 3 formats.

Format 1- is CD-ROM based consisting of 2 CD disks: Disk 1 is DC-ROM containing the HyperCard lessons stacks; Disk 2 is a CD audio disk with situational settings and dialogues read by five native speakers. Audio portions are controlled by the user from the stacks. The CD audio disk may be used in a CD-ROM drive and the lessons may be copied to the user's hard disk drive. $249.95.

Format 2- is for those who have CD players and a computer, but no CD-ROM drive. The lessons are shipped on diskette together with 1 CD audio disk. The user can hear all situational setting and dialogues on a CD player while studying the course. $249.95.

Format 3- consists of 15 diskettes and a cassette tape. The entire course in on diskette only. The situational settings and dialogues are recorded on a high quality cassette tape. $149.95.

In addition to the lessons, the stacks of all three formats contain the course's entire target language vocabulary recorded in high-quality digitized speech by a native speaker.
